

SUMMARY

During the COVID-19 pandemic, I passionately shifted from biology to web development, embracing research and mentoring. I acquired technical and management expertise, excelling in web development and leading research projects. As a skilled mentor, I inspired teams to achieve excellence. Now, I am seeking impactful opportunities to apply this diverse skill set, driven to make a meaningful contribution. My adaptability, dedication, and commitment to growth in challenging environments allow me to thrive. I eagerly look forward to applying my unique blend of technical, research, and mentoring skills in a dynamic and innovative setting.
